

Bio- Dr. Shahab Ali Siddiqui

Dr. Shahab works as Health Systems Strengthening Lead in an International Child Rights Organization, Save the Children. He has over 10 years of experience in the field of Public Health. His core areas of expertise include health Policy Development, Program Planning and Implementation focusing on Health Systems. Before joining Save the Children, he was working as a Senior Consultant in a US based multinational corporate firm called IMS Health (now known as IQVIA), where he was handling public health and nutrition related projects funded by World Bank, BMGF, CHAI, and Ministry of Health & Family Welfare.

For more than 6 years, he has worked as a Senior Consultant in the Policy and Planning division of Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Government of India. He has been an integral part of various teams constituted by the Government on developing policy documents and guidelines on key aspects of the National Health Mission (NHM). He has contributed directly in conceptualization, development and operationalization of NHM-Free Drugs Service Initiative & Mobile Medical Units. He was instrumental in developing an India specific model of public health care on "Expanding scope of Primary Health Care-Screening & Treatment of Cervical Cancer" for Ministry of Health & FW, Gol.

He is a medical doctor having an MBA in Health Care management from Symbiosis International University, Pune.